International Fitness Celebrity and Creator of The Masala Bhangra Workout®

Masala Bhangra Workout is the creation of fitness instructor, Sarina Jain. She is an energetic fitness innovator, music-video choreographer and international television/radio personality who basically just loves to dance! Jain is America's first cross-cultural fitness star, combining the bhangra tradition from her Punjabi roots with the American craze for healthy living. This unique combination of Punjabi folk dance and cardio workout has won her the attention of those seeking a lively way to tone up. Masala Bhangra Workout is also a certified fitness program backed by the U.S. fitness boards. Jain introduced her bhangra-style fitness routine to the U.S. when she founded her fitness company, Masala Dance & Fitness in 1999 in Los Angeles and released her first workout tape that same year. She has since directed and produced a total of seven high-intensity workouts as part of her Masala Bhangra Workout series. Jain has been a certified fitness instructor for more than 18 years and brings her business savvy to the table with a degree in marketing and public relations. This year, her aim is to spread the love for bhangra to Latin America, as well as train Masala Bhangra instructors worldwide. Need a new workout regime? Jain's new workout video is in the works.

I LOVED it!!!! Not only is the Masala Bhangra Workout different from any other workout, but my cardio rate increased a lot! Sarina is really charismatic and I love the way she motivates during the workout. She's great!
